

John G. Bruno

President and Chief Operating Officer

John G. Bruno serves as president and chief operating officer of Xerox Corporation, where he leads business model advancements informed by macro trends, client feedback, and market opportunities to position Xerox for long-term profitable and sustainable growth.

John is responsible for the Print, Digital Services, and IT Services business units, including sales and marketing, research and product development, strategy and corporate development, public relations, service delivery, manufacturing, and supply chain operations.

John joined Xerox from Aon, where he was Chief Operating Officer of the firm and Chief Executive Officer of the Data & Analytic Services business unit. As CEO of Data & Analytic Services, John led the strategic shift of $1.7B of traditional small commercial brokerage to a new technology-enabled business model. As COO, he was responsible for modernizing legacy technology and independent business functions to a global shared operating model with more than 22,000 professionals focused on client success, innovation, growth, profit, and service excellence.

Prior to joining Aon, John was President, Industry & Field Operations and EVP of Corporate Development for NCR Corporation, where he played a prominent leadership role in the company's reinvention to a growth-oriented, hardware-enabled, software-driven business model. John has also held senior leadership positions with Goldman Sachs, Merrill Lynch, Symbol Technologies (acquired by Motorola), and Cisco Systems.

John serves on the Board of Directors of Global Payments, where he is chair of the Compensation Committee as well as a member of the Technology Committee.

John is also the executive sponsor of The Women's Alliance, one of Xerox's ten Employee Resource Groups.